MOST SHOCKING PLASTIC SURGERY

You can do what? The latest must-have tweaks really push the limits

Dimple implants

JENNIFER GARNER and British pop star Cheryl Cole are said to have sparked the "dimple-plasty" trend, a 10-minute cheek tuck done through a tiny incision inside the mouth. Risk? "Natural dimples appear only when a person is smiling," says Dr. Shoib Myint, a Las Vegas plastic surgeon, "while designer dimples could appear permanently if not done correctly."

Cost: $3,000 to $5,000

Ab etching

Pining for cut AUDRINA PATRIDGE-style abs? "This tummy tuck uses liposuction to remove fat from just under the skin in patterns that resemble a six-pack," says Dr. Brian S. Glatt of Premier Plastic Surgery Center of New Jersey. The downside: "Results may not look as natural many years down the road."

Cost: $3,000 to $7,500

Eyebrow transplant

Thinning or scarred brows can now be restored to ASHLEY OLSEN-like levels thanks to this virtually risk-free operation during which 50 to 350 individual hairs are removed from the scalp and implanted above the eyes. "The transplants fall out in two weeks, then start to regrow after three months," says Dr. Myint. "They'll continue to grow for a lifetime."

Cost: $3,000 to $5,000

Back scoop

One of the 10 procedures HEIDI MONTAG had in one day, a back scoop is her interpretation of liposuction of the back and bra-strap area," says Dr. Glatt. "Fat can be removed from the hips up to the shoulders to create a more defined look."

Cost: $4,000 to $8,000

Knee lift

"Most people had never heard of this procedure until DEMI MOORE reportedly had it," says Dr. Glatt. The major risk is unsightly scarring in a prominent location — on the front of the thigh just above the knee, where the skin is pulled, tightened or removed.

Cost: $2,000 to $4,000
